New Features and Enhancements

The following features are new to Conga Discovery AI in this release.

Responsive Training Tab

The Training tab, including the Force Train button, is now available during auto-extraction before the provision is trained. See Training for more.

Agreement Links Added to Ready for Review

When the agreement is in Ready for Review state, the CLM web link and (if reverse sync is set up) the Salesforce agreement link are displayed. See The Home Screen for more.

UX: Insights Improvements

The Insights Answer window is now resizable, with a look and feel resembling that of the clause display. Users can now edit the AI's answers, with Markdown elements visible during edits. See Question Insight Options for more.

Extractions and Feedback Selectable

Reviewers can uncheck a single field or clause extraction if the extraction is incorrect. User feedback (thumbs up and thumbs down) is always enabled for single extractions, whether they are selected or not. Users can remove feedback (neutral) so that feedback won't be returned to the agreement record. See To review imported documents for more.

About Discovery AI

Conga Discovery AI integrates Conga's powerful machine learning engine to its Revenue Lifecycle Platform. Entering through this cloud platform, you can now use artificial intelligence to import and extract terms, fields, and clauses from contracts.

Administrators must set up the tool, integrating Discovery AI to their user interface, setting up the target storage backend if needed, and establishing links to the AI. Once the tool is set up, the Administrator maps agreement types (for example, Master Service Agreement, Nondisclosure Agreement, or Independent Contractor Agreement) to predefined terms (fields or clauses). Discovery AI applies these mapped terms to ingested documents, capturing, highlighting, and creating searchable metadata (dates, amounts, Booleans, or custom values) for detected contract provisions. User administration is managed in Conga's Revenue Lifecycle Platform.

Users' primary roles are to import documents and review them once they are imported. This flow also enables users to train the AI on any custom provisions described by the administrator.

Discovery AI offers three choices for imported documents: OCR (text only), Automated Extraction, and Verified Extraction. OCR is fastest, ingesting and storing imported documents as searchable text, but offering no contract provision extraction. Automated Extraction provides artificial intelligence and machine learning to extract contract provisions and generate searchable metadata about contracts. Verified Extraction introduces an attorney into the process to review and validate Discovery AI's accuracy.

Discovery AI for Administrators

Discovery AI is a machine-learning application that reads documents, finds and extracts key provisions, and analyzes the characteristics of your contracts and third-party paper.

Administrative tasks include:

- Setting up the application
- Managing provisions
- Defining the clauses, fields, and tables to be extracted

To get started, set up the application.

Setting Up Discovery AI

Before you or any of your users can access Discovery AI, you must set it up. To set up the Discovery AI application, you must establish a connection to the AI engine that will extract your documents. Then, you must identify the types of agreement you expect to receive, and map for extraction the clauses you expect them to contain.

User Management

User access to Discovery AI is through Conga Revenue Lifecycle Platform and is governed by your cloud access agreement with Conga.

Setting Up the Application

Access Discovery AI from Conga CLM.

Prerequisites

- You are the administrator of Conga CLM for your organization.
- Your licenses for Discovery AI and Conga CLM on the Revenue Lifecycle Platform are active.

Managing Provisions

Access the Provision Library by clicking the Provision Library tab in the left navigation bar.

The Provision Library provides a listing of all provisions, mapped and unmapped. A provision either contains a value (a date, a duration, a percentage, an amount of money, a picklist, or a short text) or language (text). Provisions are classified as built-in or custom. Mapped provisions can be applied when a document is imported for extraction. An unmapped provision is a provision that has been detected but has not been selected for inclusion in extractions.

In addition to Discovery AI's extensive library of built-in provisions, you can configure and train your own custom provisions. You cannot edit or delete the built-in provisions. You can, however, update them through syncing.

To view provision details

The Provision Library's default layout provides information about stored provisions at a glance, including the provision name, type, and last sync date for all provisions.

Clicking a provision's name opens a detailed view of that provision.

Syncing Provisions

Syncing the Provision Library brings in new provisions and updates existing provisions from the AI service provider. It is a good idea to synchronize regularly, to get new provisions from the publisher and to benefit from ongoing improvements to the AI.

To sync the Provision Library

1. Click the Provision Library tab in the left navigation bar to open the Provision Library.
2. Click the Sync Library button.
3. Discovery AI syncs all available provisions. This can take a considerable amount of time.

Provisions

Conga's AI helps you learn the details of your contracts, enabling your business to make better decisions. It uncovers and extracts key information from commercial agreements, unstructured contracts, and related documents, helping track contract management information.

Provisions are information that Conga's AI has been trained to identify in document contents, automatically populating field results. The Discovery AI AI is trained to extract over 1,200 common legal clauses, provisions, and data points from more than 130 document types.

Built-in provisions are preloaded in Discovery AI and work without added configuration. These fields are not modifiable, so adding or removing results for a given built-in field does not affect its future behavior. Trained by experienced lawyers and domain experts, these provisions are regularly maintained, and we regularly add built-in provisions to our library based on market changes and customer demand.

Because our customers are from many different industries, we intentionally build our provisions broadly, training the provisions on a variety of document types in various governing jurisdictions. Each provision contains a description describing what the provision is trained to capture and the types of documents it has been trained on. Before release, each provision is rigorously tested on a holdout set of documents that the provision was not previously trained on, ensuring our understanding of its behavior and its effectiveness on unfamiliar documents.

Getting the Most Out of Built-in Provisions

Our built-in provisions are not perfect and human review remains expected for documents and annotations. For best results, review provision descriptions before using them (either yourself or by engaging an attorney in the loop with Verified Extraction) and use provisions on the same document types they were trained on; for example, do not expect a provision trained on general commercial agreements to perform as well (or at all) on credit agreements.

Provision Types

Discovery AI brokers built-in provisions, which range from the most general and universal contract characteristics (such as parties or consideration) to contract provisions that are tailored to unique agreement types and industries, and facilitates custom provisions that you can build and train to meet your unique needs. You can build custom provisions on your own or base them on existing built-in or custom provisions.

Built-In Provisions: Standard Provisions

These provisions represent the "basics" that apply to any contract.

Name	Description
Agreement Title	The given title of the contract
Audit Rights	Designates if the contract grants any party the right to audit any other party to the contract.
Commencement Date	The start date of the contract term, if different from the effective date. If the commencement date refers to outside information, like a go-live date, it displays as "TBD".
Data Security Breach Notification	Designates if the contract specifically states whether, in the event of a breach of data security (generally regarding customer information or PII) by one party, whether such party must send generic notification to other parties or notification that complies with particular laws.
Dispute Resolution	Designates if the contract includes an arbitration requirement.
Effective Date	The date the contract goes into effect
Exclusivity/ Not Granted	Indicates that one party to the contract does not grant exclusivity to the other.
Exclusivity/ Required	Indicates that one party to the contract requires exclusivity from the other.
Governing Law	The state or foreign law that the governs the contract
Indemnification Provision	Designates, if the contract includes indemnification provisions, whether they are unilaterally or mutually binding.
Non-Solicitation Period	How long after expiration or termination of the contract that parties are restricted from soliciting employees or contractors from other parties to the contract.

Name	Description
Notice Address	If a notice clause is provided, this provides the address to which such text directs. If no notice clause is provided, this captures any address that may be listed for a party.
Notice Field	This describes how legal notices must be delivered to be valid.
Original Expiration Date	The expiration date of the initial term of the contract
Parties	The contracting parties to the contract, normalized by entity for differences in punctuation, variations, and subsidiaries, as well as the other (non-party) entities named in the agreement.
Pricing/ Billing Frequency	Defines the interval at which the paying party will render payment to the party providing goods or services.
Pricing/ Payment Model	Designates whether services shall be provided on a Fixed, Retainer, or Time & Materials basis.
Pricing/ Payment Terms	Defines how long, in days, the contract states payment is due after invoice delivery. If the value is "Other," the text is displayed as the value.
Related Master Agreement Name	The given title of the related agreement title that is directly referenced in the contract.
Renewal Limit	The number of times a contract can renew for the stated renewal period.
Renewal Notice	The real-time date to provide notice by, or the duration of time required for notice to, exercise an option-to-renew. This may be either (i) an exact calculated date, (ii) X days/weeks/months/years listed as a duration, (iii) at any time, or (iv) upon written notice

Name	Description
Renewal Period	The length of time of subsequent renewal periods after the initial term.
Renewal Type	The renewal provision that applies to the term of the contract. This may be auto-renew, option-to-renew, perpetual, or fixed.
Signatures	This determines that a contract has either been signed by all required parties (Signed) or not signed by one or more required parties (Not Signed).
Termination Notice	The real-time date required to provide notice by to halt an auto-renewal or the amount of duration required for notice of termination for convenience to be effective. This may be either (i) an exact calculated date, (ii) X days/weeks/months/years listed as a duration, (iii) at any time, (iv) upon written notice, or (v) upon mutual agreement.
Total Contract Value	What the contract states as the total price for the services, supplies, deliverables, etc.

Built-In Provisions: Specialized Provisions

Specialized provisions apply to specific contract types. Conga offers a library of over 1,200 such provisions. These are catalogued in Appendix A: Provision Library.

Custom Provisions

Provisions are available from built-in libraries. Syncing the Provision Library to the publisher (AI provider) makes these provisions available for data extraction mapping. However, if your specific contract language does not conform to any of these preconfigured provision types, you can name, build, populate, and train the AI on your own custom provision type.

To add a custom provision

Successive generations of Conga Discovery AI have progressively reduced the resources required to train an AI to recognize and extract values from documents. Generative AI reduces the training requirement to zero. The administrator configures the generative AI search with two examples. Once the examples are added and the provision is saved and mapped to a worksheet, no additional user training input is expected: the provision extracts from imported documents automatically.

⚠ Warning

There is an issue with custom provisions. When the user reviews clauses from an extracted document, the on-screen highlight may not match the information gathered correctly by the AI-generated provision. This issue affects only clauses, not fields. It is scheduled for repair.

Before adding custom clause provisions, alert users to this issue.

1. From the left navigation bar of the Conga Start window, select the menu icon () and then pick Admin Apps.
2. Click the AI icon () to open the Discovery AI admin/management view.
3. Click the Admin Dashboard button to raise the Discovery AI Admin Home page.
4. From the Admin Dashboard (Admin Home), click the Provision Library tab in the left navigation bar to open the Provision Library.
5. Review the existing provisions carefully to ensure that the provision you want isn't already provided. Entering key terms in the Search & Filter field at right is a good way to shorten the list of provisions to review.
6. If the provision you want isn't available, click the NEW PROVISION button to raise the New Provision window. Enter the new provision's name and select the annotation data type. Further choices depend on this selection. From the available choices (Date, Organization, Currency, Duration, Number, Percent, Picklist, Short Text, Text, Table) Picklist and Table offer additional settings.
 - a. For all except Picklist and Table, select the language, minimum accuracy threshold, acceptable confidence score, maximum extractions to display for review, and enter a description of the provision. Alphanumeric characters are allowed. Duplicate provision names are also allowed.

✓ Tip

Enter clear, natural, space-separated names in the Name field, which prompts the generative AI model in the background.

Do:

`Effective Date`

Don't:

`Effective_Date1`

`E.Date.Custom`

The Description field conveys the provision's meaning to the generative AI model. In this field, provide clear phrases that describe what is to be extracted from the document. For example, the description offered to extract the effective date only if it is mentioned might be: "The date on which agreement becomes effective". If you also consider the contract date as the effective date, the description might be: "The date on which the agreement becomes effective or is entered into."

- b. For Picklist data types, select the data type (Date, Organization, Currency, Duration, Number, Percent, Short Text, or Text) and enter comma-separated values in the Add values for picklist field.
 - c. For Table data types, select a preconfigured table from the Choose Table field.
 - d. For all data types except Table, you must select a language (default: English) and you may adjust the Minimum Accuracy Threshold (expressed as a percentage), the Acceptable Confidence Score (a decimal between 0 and 1), and the Maximum Extractions to Display for Review. For more on these, see Minimum Accuracy Threshold: Theory, below.
 - e. Click NEXT.
7. The Provision Example window prompts you to add two new examples. Click ADD EXAMPLE.
 8. If any examples are available, they are displayed in the resulting New Provision window. Otherwise, you must click NEW to add an example.
 - a. In the "Add example" pop-up, enter (or paste in) the paragraph text you will extract and the data you want to extract.

Tip

For fields, enter the sentence, paragraph, or clause where the field is usually found in the Paragraph Text field.

For example:

This agreement is entered into on 1/1/2024 by and between ABC Inc., a Delaware company, and XYZ LLC, headquartered in San Jose.

In this example, enter 1/1/2024 in the Data to Extract field.

For clauses, enter a sentence, paragraph, or clause in the Paragraph Text field that is similar to or exactly the clause to be extracted.

For example:

No Party shall be liable or responsible to the other Party, nor be deemed to have defaulted under or breached this Agreement when delay is caused by or results from acts of God.

In this example, enter the same clause information in the Data to Extract field, as the extraction involves the entire clause or paragraph.

- b. Click Add another example and repeat the preceding substep with another example. You must provide at least two samples for the AI to work.
 - c. Click ADD.
9. Your entry is now available in the Examples table.
 10. When you have entered all your examples, click DONE. You will receive a success message and see a summary of the new provision.

Your new custom provision is available in the Provision Library and is active by default.

There is no manual training flow. If the AI does not produce the desired accuracy, add more examples to the provision as described above.

Managing Annotations

Annotations are feedback left by reviewers as they review the document extractions. They consist of:

- Thumbs-up/thumbs-down indications
- Text selections from documents associated with a provision
- Edits to text selections and extractions

The AI uses all these types of information to train itself. For a given custom provision, you can include the annotations reviewers have made or delete them, removing them from AI training.

A thumbs-up or thumbs-down sends the extraction to the AI model for training, and user feedback is only valid if either a thumbs-up or thumbs-down is selected. If neither is selected, changes (add, update, or delete) made to an extraction are not sent to the AI for training. If the extraction is annotated (an add or update) and you select the checkbox to the left, your annotation is saved to the agreement record even if you do not select thumbs-up or thumbs-down feedback.

To review annotations

1. From the left navigation bar of the Conga Start window, select the menu icon () and then pick Admin Apps.
2. Click the AI icon () to open Discovery AI's administrative view.
3. Click the Admin Dashboard button to raise the Discovery AI Admin Home page.
4. From the Admin Dashboard (Admin Home), click the Provision Library tab in the left navigation bar to open the Provision Library.
5. Click the name of an existing custom provision.
6. Click the ANNOTATIONS tab.
7. The default view shows columns for document name, the content of the annotation, the date of the review, and feedback (a thumbs-up or thumbs-down indication).
8. Under the Feedback column, select the thumbs-up icon to include an annotation as suitable for training this provision, or select the thumbs-down icon to indicate a bad training example.

To delete annotations

1. Follow the instructions in To review annotations to the ANNOTATIONS tab.
2. Select the document annotation(s) you will remove.
3. Click the Delete icon ()

To export the Annotations table

You can review the annotations table off-platform by exporting it the tabular comma-separated value format.

1. Follow the instructions in To review annotations to the ANNOTATIONS tab.
2. Click the EXPORT CSV button at top right.

This generates and exports a CSV listing of all visible annotation information, irrespective of the live selections.

Training

When the total count of annotations reaches 30 for a provision, training automatically begins. You can also trigger training for a provision before 30 annotations are entered by force-training the AI on a limited set of annotations.

To manage training tasks

1. Open the Provision Library and select a provision as described in To review annotations.
2. Click the TRAINING tab.

The Training in Progress pane at left describes the documents containing the subject provision that have already been annotated and the total number of annotations in the reviews. The Still to Be Trained pane accounts for remaining annotations and documents.

3. Flipping the Stop retraining toggle on forces to AI to use the training it has already received to find future provisions. This reduces review latency but may cost accuracy if turned on before the AI is fully trained.
4. AI training normally activates after 30 annotations (thumbs-up/-down marks, text selections, or selection edits) have been entered. Clicking the FORCE TRAIN button pushes the AI out of training mode immediately. This may save time but may also cost accuracy.

Note

Force-training with fewer than five annotations is not recommended.

Table Extraction

You can use AI to extract tables from documents. This is especially useful when contracts present such tabular data as bills of materials or delivery schedules. Because table extraction requires generative AI, these extractions do not require training. Users can extract tables as soon as the table extraction is configured and mapped to a worksheet.

Each table must have a vertical columnar structure, with each line reflecting the values named in the heading. Discovery AI extracts these values in much the same way it handles fields and clauses, presenting this data in a column-defined line-item format.

To configure a custom provision with table extraction

1. Follow the procedures for To add a custom provision (above) to step 6c.
2. Select Table from the Annotation Data Type dropdown menu. Some screen options (Based on Provision, Minimum Accuracy Threshold, etc.) disappear.
3. Select a table by name from the Choose a Table dropdown menu. These tables are defined in CLM. You can set up new tables in CLM by following the instructions for adding contract line items.
4. Click NEXT.
5. Click ADD COLUMNS to raise the Add Alternate Keywords for Columns pop-up.
6. Select a column name from the Choose Column drop-down that you want the AI to extract. This populates the adjacent Add Values for Keywords cell.
7. Click the NEW COLUMN button to add columns to extract. Add columns in the order you want this information presented. The order you see here is the presentation order of the extraction, irrespective of the order the columns fall in the scanned table. You are not required to select every column.

Note

The order of the columns here controls the order in which they are presented to the reviewer. To change the order, you must delete and add columns until you achieve the desired order. It is therefore a good idea to have the presentation order in mind before you begin.

8. You must click the checkbox adjacent to one of the columns to set it as the primary column. This identifies the essential property of the line without which there would be no line. For example, on a line containing the column heads "Deliverable", "Quantity", and "Unit Price", the Deliverable column is the reasonable primary choice, as there is no quantity or price without a deliverable product. Primary selection does not affect the presented order of the columns, but it is the "handle" by which reviewers will access and sign off on the extracted data.

9. For each column, enter keywords as comma-separated text in the Add Values for Keywords field approximating likely column headings to enhance the AI's likelihood of accurate extraction. For example, if you know a column normally titled "Description" is occasionally titled "Desc.", you can enter that alias here.
10. You can check the Strict Name Match box to enforce verbatim column-heading matches. Leaving this unchecked permits AI matching.
11. If the table type contains hierarchic data, indicated by regularly indented rows in existing columns, you can set a hierarchic value for the column entry. For example, if a table has a column named "Prices" with sub-entries for "$1-$5,000", "$5,001-$10,000" etc., you can select the Prices column from the Choose Column field, populate the Add Values for Keywords field with entries of "$1-$5000", "$5001-$10000", and so forth, and assign Hierarchy level 1 in the Type field.

Tip

Do not enter values with commas except to divide entries. Entries in the Add Values for Keywords field are comma-delimited, so your entries will be broken into fragments at each comma.

12. When you have selected and described all columns desired for extraction, click ADD to review your columns.
13. You can slide the Match exact column count toggle to ignore tables with an unexpected number of columns.
14. Click DONE to save the new custom provision and return to the Provision Library.

Minimum Accuracy Threshold: Theory

It is important to have a working understanding of the accuracy and confidence scores, as these are the final criteria by which you will measure the AI's performance in recognizing your custom provision. As the F_1 score is a factor of accuracy, precision, and recall, it is worthwhile to have a basic understanding of these foundational concepts. Once a provision is trained enough to produce a meaningful statistical sample, you can fine-tune the results based on the AI model's confidence score.

Accuracy

Accuracy describes the ratio of true positive and negative identifications for all samples. The ratio of true positives detected to all actual positives is classified as recall. The ratio of true predicted positive results to all (true and false) predicted positives results is called precision. These are combined to form an F1 score.

Precision

Precision is a measure of the AI's predictive correctness. For example, if the AI is asked to find apples in a mixed basket of fruit, a perfect precision score of 1.00 means every fruit it found was an apple. This does not indicate whether it found all the apples. Expressed mathematically:

$$\text{precision} = \text{true positives} / (\text{true positives} + \text{false positives})$$

Recall

Recall is a measure of completeness. For example, if the AI is to find apples in a mixed basket of fruit, a perfect recall score of 1.00 means it found all the apples in the basket. This does not indicate it found only apples: it may have found some oranges too. Expressed mathematically:

$$\text{recall} = \text{true positives} / (\text{true positives} + \text{false negatives})$$

Categorizing legal concepts has more variation than picking fruit, especially when the provisions are reviewed by different legal professionals; therefore, recall and precision may differ among annotators (one person's recall of 0.90 may be someone else's 0.80). Remember this when using built-in provisions and reviewing annotations.

F₁ Score

The F₁ score is the harmonic mean of precision and recall. It provides a more sensitive measure of accuracy than precision or recall alone. Expressed mathematically:

$$F_1 = 2 * [(\text{precision} * \text{recall}) / (\text{precision} + \text{recall})].$$

The F₁ score gives equal weight to both precision and recall for measuring a system's overall accuracy. Unlike other accuracy metrics, the total number of observations is not important. The F₁ score value can provide high-level information about an AI model's output quality, enabling sensitive tuning to optimize both precision and recall.

When setting up custom provisions, you are asked to enter a desired minimum accuracy threshold. This is an F₁ score, and Conga recommends you set this value to 65, which we have found optimally weights AI precision vs. trainer time.

Prediction Threshold

Also called a confidence threshold, this is presented in our app as the Acceptable Confidence Score. This value describes a confidence level above which information is accepted and below which it is rejected. If the threshold is set to 0, all responses exceed the threshold and are accepted. If the threshold is set to 1, then no response exceeds the threshold and all are rejected.

In general:

- Increasing the prediction (confidence) threshold lowers recall and improves precision (i.e., biases towards true positives, but throws some good results away).
- Decreasing the prediction threshold improves recall and lowers precision (i.e., biases towards including more hits, but with more false positives).

If you find your results have a lot of false positives (Discovery AI identifies incorrect passages as matching results), raise the prediction threshold setting. If you find the AI is missing too many entries, i.e., not detecting passages as matching, lower this setting.

Custom Provision Use Cases

The Discovery AI app pulls useful data out of contracts. Some data, such as start and end dates or total contract value, are fundamental to all contracts and are readily recognizable to Discovery AI. Other fields are unique to companies' business needs and require you to nominate custom provisions. Adding custom provisions is documented in the To add a custom provision section. This section provides examples of the flow described there in terms of desired outcomes.

To create a custom provision for a currency-type Total Fixed Fee field

The Currency type allows users to input monetary values such as $45,000; in other words, a numeric value associated with a unit of currency.

1. Follow the steps in To add a custom provision to the Create New Provision screen.

2. Select Currency from the Data Type pulldown menu.

The screenshot shows the 'Create New Provision' interface in the Conga Contract Intelligence Admin. The 'Annotation Data Type' dropdown menu is set to 'Currency'. The 'Name' field contains 'Custom_TotalFixedFee'. The 'Description' field contains 'Total Fixed Fee refers to the Fixed component of the Payment in the contract.'. The 'Example 1' field contains '8.16. Charges. Fixed fees $45,000 pro rata in advance.'. The 'Language' dropdown is set to 'English'. The 'Active' toggle is turned 'On'. The 'Minimum Accuracy Threshold' is set to '65'. The 'Based on Provision' dropdown is set to 'Based on Provision'. There are 'CANCEL' and 'SAVE' buttons at the bottom right.

3. Continue the steps in To add a custom provision.

To create a custom provision for capturing a warranty period

The Duration data type enables users to annotate (during document review) the duration value in such language as "90 days", "12 months", or "five years".

1. Follow the steps in To add a custom provision to the Create New Provision screen.
2. Select Duration for the Data Type value.

The screenshot shows the 'Create New Provision' interface in the Conga Contract Intelligence Admin. The 'Annotation Data Type' dropdown menu is set to 'Duration'. The 'Name' field contains 'Custom_WarrantyPeriod'. The 'Description' field contains 'This provision specifies the Warranty Period of a Product or products specified in the contract.'. The 'Example 1' field contains 'Software Warranty. Cielia warrants for 12 months from delivery that its software will perform substantially in'. The 'Language' dropdown is set to 'English'. The 'Active' toggle is turned 'On'. The 'Minimum Accuracy Threshold' is set to '65'. The 'Based on Provision' dropdown is set to 'Based on Provision'. There are 'CANCEL' and 'SAVE' buttons at the bottom right.

3. Continue the steps in To add a custom provision.

To create a custom provision for an indexation metric

Contract values and terms can be tied to an indexation metric. For example, the consideration of a contract may change based on changes to the indexed rate of inflation or local prevailing wages.

1. Follow the steps in To add a custom provision to the Create New Provision screen.
2. Select Picklist for the Data Type value.

3. Add comma-separated picklist values to the “Add values for picklist” field. The Picklist type allows users to annotate this value during document review. In the above example, indexation metric picklist values are “AWE”, “Percentage”, and “AWE or Percentage”.

Note

Picklist values must match (case-sensitively) the Salesforce field values this provision is mapped to.

4. Continue the steps in To add a custom provision.

To create a custom text provision for a fee review point (indexation)

The Text data type enables users to annotate (during document review) a text value such as “annually on the commencement date anniversary” or other such review point values.

1. Follow the steps in To add a custom provision to the Create New Provision screen.

2. Select Text for the Data Type value.

The screenshot shows the 'Create New Provision' form in the Conga Contract Intelligence Admin interface. The 'Name' field is filled with 'Custom_FeeReviewPoint'. The 'Annotation Data Type' dropdown menu is open, and 'Text' is selected. The 'Description' field contains the text: 'The Fee Review Point specifies the time of the year when the Fee specified in the contract would be reviewed considering inflation etc.'. Below the description, there are two example fields. Example 1 contains the text: 'AWE will continue to be applied by Vetora annually on the commencement date anniversary on an ongoing basis.'. Example 2 is empty. The 'Language' dropdown is set to 'English'. The 'Active' toggle is turned 'On'. The 'Minimum Accuracy Threshold' is set to '65'. The 'Based on Provision' dropdown is set to 'Based on Provision'. There are 'CANCEL' and 'SAVE' buttons at the bottom right.

3. Continue the steps in To add a custom provision.

To create a custom provision to use data from a picklist

1. Follow the steps in To add a custom provision to the Create New Provision screen.
2. Select Picklist for the Data Type value.

The screenshot shows the 'Create New Provision' form in the Conga Contract Intelligence Admin interface. The 'Name' field is filled with 'Custom_UseOfData'. The 'Annotation Data Type' dropdown menu is open, and 'Picklist' is selected. The 'Description' field contains the text: 'Use of Data specifies the restrictions on data use, and sharing of data.'. Below the description, there are two example fields. Example 1 contains the text: 'Restricted use of Information. You shall not sell, purchase, provide, share, or exchange name, address, account'. Example 2 is empty. The 'Language' dropdown is set to 'English'. The 'Active' toggle is turned 'On'. The 'Minimum Accuracy Threshold' is set to '65'. The 'Based on Provision' dropdown is set to 'Based on Provision'. There is a field for 'Add values for picklist' with two dropdown menus showing 'Restricted' and 'Allowed - Internal Only'. Below this field, it says 'Separated by comma (Value 1, Value 2)'. There are 'CANCEL' and 'SAVE' buttons at the bottom right.

3. Add comma-separated picklist values to the "Add values for picklist" field. The Picklist type allows users to annotate this value during document review. For a "Use of Data" custom provision, picklist values might be "Restricted", "Allowed - Internal Only", and "Allowed - Internal and 3rd Party" or other such values.

Note

Picklist values must match (case-sensitively) the Salesforce or agreement record field values this provision is mapped to.

- Continue the steps in To add a custom provision.

To create a custom provision for a percent price increase

The Percent data type enables users to annotate (during document review) a percent value, such as a “4%” or “four percent” price increase, or other such percentage values.

- Follow the steps in To add a custom provision to the Create New Provision screen.
- Select Percent for the Data Type value.

The screenshot shows the 'Create New Provision' interface in the Conga Contract Intelligence Admin. The 'Name' field is filled with 'Custom_PriceIncreasePercent'. The 'Annotation Data Type' dropdown is set to 'Percent'. The 'Description' field contains the text: 'The Price Increase Percent field specified the percentage increase in the price when a price revision occurs.' The 'Example 1' field contains a sample clause: '8.19. Renewal term fees shall not be increased by more than 5% over the prior year's fees and shall be'. The 'Minimum Accuracy Threshold' is set to '65' and the 'Language' is set to 'English'. The 'Active' toggle is turned 'On'. At the bottom right, there are 'CANCEL' and 'SAVE' buttons.

- Continue the steps in To add a custom provision.

To create a custom provision for a registration number

The Number data type enables users to annotate (during document review) a numeric value, for example a license or registration number value.

- Follow the steps in To add a custom provision to the Create New Provision screen.

2. Select Number for the Data Type value.

The screenshot shows the 'Create New Provision' interface in the Conga Contract Intelligence Admin. The 'Annotation Data Type' is set to 'Number'. The 'Name' field contains 'Custom_RegistrationNumber'. The 'Description' field contains 'Registration Number is a numeric value representing the unique value associated with a registered Entity/Company.' The 'Example 1' field contains 'Plaza, Dancing Business Park, West Surrey, AB10CT9, with company number 6223488 ('CL')'. The 'Active' toggle is turned 'On'. The 'Language' is set to 'English'. The 'Minimum Accuracy Threshold' is set to '65'. The 'Based on Provision' dropdown is set to 'Based on Provision'. The 'Update' button is visible in the top right corner.

3. Continue the steps in To add a custom provision.

To create a text-type custom provision annotation

The Text data type enables users to annotate text values during document review.

1. Follow the steps in To add a custom provision to the Create New Provision screen.

The 'Update' button is visible in the top right corner.

3. Continue the steps in To add a custom provision.

Deleting Custom Provisions

You can delete custom provisions from the Provision Library. You cannot delete provisions synced from a publisher.

To delete one or more provisions

1. Open the Provision Library and find the custom provision you will delete.
2. Check the box adjacent to the provision or provisions you will delete.
3. Click the Delete button.
4. The Provision Library screen automatically refreshes itself. Review Provision Library to verify that the provision or provisions are removed.

Setting Up Data Extraction

Discovery AI uses mappings to extract provisions from uploaded documents. For Discovery AI to do this, you must define the types of documents you expect it to receive. For example, you might define a master service agreement, a non-disclosure agreement, or a construction quitclaim. For each agreement type, you must map for extraction the provisions you anticipate in the agreement.

Provisions can be of three types: fields, clauses, or tables. A field contains some measurable, normal property: a date, a percentage, a duration, or a cash value. Clauses do not have a measurable characteristic; for example, a stipulation, an indemnification clause, or a representation of fact. Tables present values in rows, also called line items, which present values in columns. The column defines the type of data, and the row contains the value. It may be useful to consider a table as an array of fields. Access provisions through the Data Extraction Setup tab in the left navigation bar. Manage provisions using the Provision Library.

When built-in provisions do not meet your needs, you can create and train your own custom provisions to provide bespoke extraction solutions. Mapping Data Extractions

Provisions

Built-In Provisions

Discovery AI extracts these fundamental provisions (if possible) from all contracts it reviews:

- Agreement Title
- Parties
- Effective Date
- Commencement Date
- Original Expiration Date
- Termination Notice
- Renewal Type
- Renewal Period
- Renewal Notice
- Renewal Limit
- Signatures
- Notice
- Notice Address
- Related Master Agreement Name
- Total Contract Value

These provisions are required because without them a contract is not effective, and they are available for every Discovery AI extraction.

You can select from the following common built-in provisions as your needs dictate:

- Audit Rights
- Pricing/Billing Frequency
- Data Security Breach Notification
- Dispute Resolution
- Exclusivity/Not granted
- Exclusivity/Required
- Governing Law
- Indemnification Provision
- Non-Solicitation Period
- Pricing/Payment Model
- Pricing/Payment Terms

Additionally, you can pick specialized terms from our library of over 1,200 provisions for extraction. These are specialized for several industries and improve the granularity and specificity of your extractions.

Note

Not all provisions are available for attorney review with Verified Extraction. If you need Verified Extraction, you must negotiate the projected provision set with your Conga account executive.

Mapping Data Extractions

To set up a new data extraction map

1. Click the Data Extraction Setup tab in the left navigation bar to raise the Data Extraction Setup window.
2. Click the New button to raise the New Document Extraction Mapping popup.
3. Give the new mapping a name, enter a brief description, and choose a record type from the Choose database record pull-down menu. These values correspond to a particular contract or document type. For example, in a CLM deployment, this shows agreement records.
 - To remove the requirement to review, select 0 - Skip Review.

Note:

If any field's extracted value cannot be normalized to match its data type, the file is sent to Ready for Review and must be reviewed.

- To use a single-stage review process, select 1- One level - Review and Complete from the "Choose review level" pulldown.
 - For a more formal process, select 2 - Two levels - Review and Approve and select one or more approver names from the "Choose reviewer(s)" menu.
4. To let users to check out batches of documents for review, slide the Allow reviewers to get next batch toggle, then set the batch size. This convenience enables users to check out a block of records with a single "get batch" action. Users cannot request a new batch until they review or reassign all documents currently assigned to them.
 5. Under Import Options, select extraction options to make available to your users. These are:
 - OCR to import the document as searchable text

- Automated Extraction to submit the document for AI-only extraction, or
 - Verified Extraction to submit the document for AI extraction with attorney review.
6. Depending on whether this is a purchase or vendor agreement, set the Organization Role? toggle to either Buyer or Seller.
 7. Click Save to return to the Data Extraction Setup window.
 8. Click the name of the new mapping to raise its detail window.
 9. Click the WORKSHEETS tab.
 10. Select the Fields, Clauses, or Tables tab, then click New to raise the New Field Mapping, New Clause Mapping, or "Select table provision" popup.
 11. For each field or clause, select either Auto Extraction or Manual Extraction and the default value (If there is no extraction, this value is assigned to the provision.)

Note

When a default value is assigned to a provision, it appears in the reviewer's Provisions Found section, clearly marked as a default value. A default value does not fail validation checks for required fields.

- If the reviewer modifies the default value or marks it as reviewed, the updated value is saved to the agreement record.
- If the user does not modify the default value or mark it as reviewed, the default value is saved to the agreement record.

Default values are not sent to the AI engine for training.

Also choose whether the extraction is required. For clause extractions, choose whether to extract the complete paragraph in which the clause is found. Manual extractions require no further provision configuration.

12. For auto-extractions, select a field or clause from the left column, then select applicable provisions from the Available Provisions list. You can narrow your provision choices dramatically by entering one or more words in the search bar:

Tip
Hovering over a provision type in the Available Provisions column raises explanatory text describing the provision.

When you find a provision to assign, click the right-arrow icon to copy it to the Mapped Provisions: Approval Indicator column.

- 13. For each table, select the table you will use from the Search Table Provision dropdown and then select either manual or automatic extraction.

Note
You can only map one CLM object per table mapping. You cannot map two tables with a common agreement line item in one mapping.

- 14. For each table, select Horizontal, Vertical or Auto Detect as the orientation. Vertical tables (default value) have headings in the top row, with values laid out in columns beneath. Horizontal tables place headings in the left column and lay out each heading's values in rows. If you do not know how tables are arranged, you can select Auto Detect, which engages AI to analyze the tables. This will slow down the extraction.

- 15. Click DONE to save the mapping.

To clone a worksheet in a data extraction map

1. Click the Data Extraction Setup tab in the left navigation bar to raise the Data Extraction Setup window.
2. Click the name of the map with the worksheet you want to clone.
3. Click the Worksheets tab.
4. Select the worksheet you want to clone from the Choose Worksheet dropdown menu.

5. Click WORKSHEET ACTIONS > Clone
6. Enter a name for the worksheet, select the target record type, and check the component you want to clone.
7. Click SAVE.

The cloned worksheet appears in the destination record type.

To edit a data extraction map

1. Click the Data Extraction Setup tab in the left navigation bar to raise the Data Extraction Setup window.
2. Find the name of the map you will edit.
3. To edit the name, description, or record type, click the Edit (pen) button.
4. To edit the provisions mapped to the named extraction, click the name hypertext in the Name column.
5. Edit the mapping as described in To set up a new data extraction map.

To delete a data extraction map

From the Data Extraction Setup window, either click the trash can button next to any single mapping or click the checkbox next to one or multiple rows and click the DELETE button.

Setting Up Insights

Conga's Insights feature uses artificial intelligence to assess contract risks. Each extracted provision can be measured against predefined standards to create a risk score, and this score used to assess and mitigate contract risks for legacy or acquisition contracts (with Conga contract lifecycle management tools) or for drafting fresh agreements using X-
Author for Contracts. When a contract is extracted, the AI identifies predefined clauses and analyzes language for salient field values or clause language. Once it identifies a passage containing such a value or term, the AI assigns it a risk score based on a predefined threshold.

For example, an agreement may show a contract value of $1.5 million. On extraction, the AI first detects the passage identifying the total contract value. The AI then determines the stated value of the contract in this passage (a Total Contract Value field of $1,500,000) and compares it to a predefined risk threshold for total contract value. If the "high" risk threshold is set to $1,000,000, the user is warned that this contract carries a high risk. If so configured, the Insight feature may provide a suggestion for mitigating the risk, for example, to break the contract up into several lower-value agreements.

One might also assign risk based not on a field, but on the presence, absence, or nonconformity of a clause. For example, a contract may contain a jurisdiction clause that assigns the original contract to a state with an unfriendly legal climate. The jurisdiction clause setting may identify a set of jurisdictions with adverse legal rulings as high risk, other states as moderate risk (additional contract language may be needed), and other states/districts with friendly decisions as low risk.

Each risk assessment is tied to a risk level assignment that enables stacked ranking of risks.

To map Insights

1. Click Data Extraction Setup in the left navigation bar.
2. Click the name of the agreement type for which you are defining an insight to raise its Mapping window.
3. Click the WORKSHEETS tab.
4. Assuming all fields and clauses are mapped for this contract, click Insights. If provisions remain to be mapped, it is a best practice to complete this task before defining Insights.
5. Click the New button to map a new insight or click the pen icon on an existing definition you will edit.
6. Select the type of insight. Your choices are Risk and Question. Choosing Risk indicates you want the AI to assign information it finds AI to a predefined risk class. Selecting Question enables you to ask predefined questions for the AI to interpret, with the answer appearing in the reviewer's results. For example, "What is the total contract value?" or "Which state court has original jurisdiction?" might yield "$150000" or "Delaware" in the Answer field.
7. For a risk, Enter a name, assign a risk scale score, assign triggering criteria, enter guidance for mitigating the risk, and define the provision in which the insight is to be found. You can program the tool to identify a risk using a Boolean assessment of comparative logic operations. Each condition compares the extracted data to preconfigured values, and acts when any, all, or custom conditions are met. For custom conditions you can apply Boolean AND or OR tests of multiple conditions: `(1 AND (2 OR 3))`, e.g.
8. For a question, name the question in Question Title and enter a natural-language question in the Question field. You can also limit demands on the AI by selecting a provision from the Found in Provision field.

Tip

You can use natural language to select non-standard operations. For example, "One month after the contract goes into effect" or "Does not contain an indemnification clause."

9. Click SAVE.

To map Insights with generative AI

1. Follow the steps in To map Insights but activate the Gen AI toggle when prompted in the New Insight Mapping window.
2. Select the provision in which you expect to find the risk factor from the Found in Provision pull-down.
3. Rather than entering criteria, enter natural-language prompts in the Identification Prompt and Mitigation Prompt text fields. The identification prompt reports the risk factor to both the AI engine and the user when a risk is identified. The mitigation prompt is offered to the user receiving the warning as a strategy for remedying the problem provision.

The screenshot shows the 'New Insight Mapping' form with the following configuration:

- Insight Name : Jurisdiction
- Type of Insight : Risk
- Risk Scale : 7 (Moderate Risk)
- Criteria: Gen AI is toggled on.
- Take action when: Any condition is met
- Custom Logic: (empty)
- Criteria List: 1. Object: Field, Operator: (empty), Value: (empty)
- Mitigation Guidance: (empty)
- Found in Provision: (empty)
- Identification Prompt: Jurisdiction: Avoid Texas, Delaware and Indiana.
- Mitigation Prompt: These states have weak intellectual property protections. We recommend you use California, New York, or Illinois as courts of original jurisdiction.

Buttons: CANCEL, SAVE

4. Click Save.

Insight Definition Fields

Insight Name

Assign a brief name that will help you remember (and users understand) what the insight you are defining does.

Type of Insight

Risk and Question are the two available Insight types.

Risk Insight Options

Risk Scale

The risk scale provides a means of ranking risks. This scale is defined separately, and enables stack ranking at whatever granularity you have configured. For a given risk, you can identify its severity on the scale that you have defined.

Criteria

This setting provides the logic required to make the risk assessment work.

Take Action When: Set this to provide the logic that the insight needs to function. Remember that you are defining a single test, and that risk you are assessing must satisfy a single test with a single output. You can set this to Any Conditions Are Met, All Conditions Are Met, or Custom (This choice will be more obvious when you have populated the criteria below). If you have several criteria for an insight, these choices are match-all, match-any, or match according to the Boolean logic you filled in for Custom Logic. For example, `(1 OR 3) AND 2`.

+Add Criteria: Clicking this opens a new criterion for you to define and apply logic to.

Object: The choices here are Extracted Data and Agreement. Extracted data refers to the data the AI extracts from the document, such as field and clause information. Agreement refers to information about the agreement that can be determined by review of its metadata.

Field: If Extracted Data is selected in the Object field, Field identifies available active provisions (clauses and fields) for you to select. If Agreement is selected in the Object field, agreement fields (document metadata) become available for your selection.

Operator: This field offers a menu of context-sensitive logical operators that are pertinent to the selected Object and Field values. For example, a clause might offer "Natural Language" "Equals" and "Not Equals" as operators, while a numeric field might offer full access to "greater than," "less than," "greater than or equal to" and so forth. You can use these operators to group and implement logical tests and relationships to provide subtle, deep, highly specific searches to identify and rank risks.

Value: This field contains the alphabetic or numeric dimension against which, using the operator, the AI tests the extracted clause. For example, "60" (for Termination Notice days/Equal), "100,000" (for Limitation of Liability (premium)/Greater or Equal), or "California" (for Governing Law (Full Paragraph) (premium)/Natural Language).

Guidance

Use this field to enter instructions for the user to mitigate the risk. Explain contract risks succinctly and instruct the user how to lower the risk factor of high-risk clauses.

Found in Provision

This field identifies the provision to which you will direct the user's attention in the Guidance. Insights may use information from several provisions to identify a risk. In this field, enter the one provision in the contract that the end user must modify to mitigate the currently flagged risk.

Question Insight Options

Question

This is a text field where you enter the question you want answered. The purpose of these pre-prepared questions is to anticipate what users will ask and to have the answer already available to them.

You can edit and format these answers using Markdown:

Setting Up CLM Data Sync

Discovery AI on the Revenue Lifecycle Platform can interoperate with documents and data stored in Salesforce's cloud.

To set up CLM data sync with Salesforce, follow the instructions in Managing Data Sync.

Note

Owing to Salesforce limitations, you cannot reverse-sync tables extracted to Salesforce except for agreement line-item tables.

1. On Platform > Admin Console > Organization > External Integrations, click the Conga API Connections tab.
2. Click the External Integrations tab.
3. Select the identity provider and log in when prompted. Logging in populates the External ID field.
4. Enter the key type. You may also enter a description and email domain for the key. You may also activate the Default IDP toggle.
5. Click the Conga API Connections tab.
6. Click Add API-to-API Connection.
7. Select the external identifier you created in steps 3–4 and enter a client name. You may also enter a description. Click Save and Generate Client Secret.
8. A client ID and secret are returned.

Caution

Copy and store these safely and securely. You will not get a second chance to copy them. If they are compromised, you may be at risk of service theft. If you click Cancel, you will lose this data and you may not be able to re-establish a key using your identity.

9. Return to the Admin Console. Click Data Sync, then select Settings from the More (⋮) menu.
10. Set up the Salesforce, Platform, Email, and Custom Settings.
11. Go back to the Admin Console and set up provisions, fields, and data as described in this document.
12. Enable Reverse Sync for four objects and all of their fields
 - a. Agreement
 - b. Related Agreement
 - c. Agreement Clause
 - d. Agreement Insight

Note

Enable reverse sync for all of this object's fields.

13. Exceptions:

- a. Agreement > Contract Number field
- b. AgreementClause > Version ID, DiffText
- c. Agreement Insight > RatingIconPath

Defining Risks

The Risk Scale

You may configure a risk scale to stack-rank contract risks. The risk scale you set is dimensionless. You can set a risk scale with as few as four values up to thousands (there is no upper limit, but adding scale granularity negatively affects page load performance.) More risk values offer more stack ranking granularity at the cost of significance and ease of use. Risk rankings are not exclusive: you can assign the same risk ranking to multiple discrete provisions.

Note

It is a best practice to start with a ten-unit scale (1-4: low risk; 5-7: moderate risk; 8-10: high risk) as you become familiar with risk ranking. As you add provisions and gain confidence in your rankings, you can add risk score values as appropriate for your needs.

Individual Risk Scales

The individual risk scale is for assessing the risks attendant to every activated provision. When setting risk scales, assess and rank the risks associated with each provision as described in To set the risk scale, for each risk value (for high- and low-risk results at a minimum). You can rank each provision by risk or assign a coarse low/moderate/high value (1-2, 3-4, 5-6) to all provisions.

Total Risk Scales

While the individual risk scale ranks individual provisions' risks, the total risk scale scores the aggregate of individual risks in an agreement. The total risk scale is the sum of all individual risk scores associated with a document. Set this scale as described in To set the risk scale. Make sure the upper boundary is greater than or equal to the sum of all activated individual high risks, or do not set an upper total risk boundary.

To set the risk scale

1. Click Define Risk Scale in the left column to open the Define Risk Scale screen.
2. Select either Individual Risk Scales or Total Risk Scales.
3. Lower bounds start from 1. For the first scale, set the upper bound to 2 or more, set the risk level to Low Risk, Moderate Risk, or High Risk, and assign one of four risk icons to the risk level.
4. Set the next risk scale in the same fashion. The bottom bound of the scale is automatically set to the preceding risk level value, plus one. Two risk-level lines is the minimum permissible risk scale.
5. You may set as many risk level lines as you want, but there is no logical reason to set more than four lines (corresponding to the number of available risk icons).
6. Click Save.

Microsoft Sharepoint Integration

Discovery AI on the Revenue Lifecycle Platform can integrate with Microsoft Sharepoint so you can import files directly from your Sharepoint libraries.

To integrate with Microsoft Sharepoint

1. From the left navigation bar of the Conga Start window, select the app launcher icon () and then pick Admin Console.
2. Click the AI icon () in the left nav bar to open the Discovery AI admin/management view.
3. Click Document Delivery Integration.
4. Under Actions, click Connect.
5. Login to your Microsoft Sharepoint account when prompted and follow the integration wizard steps.

Once your Microsoft Sharepoint account is connected, you can select Disconnect under Actions at any time to remove the integration.

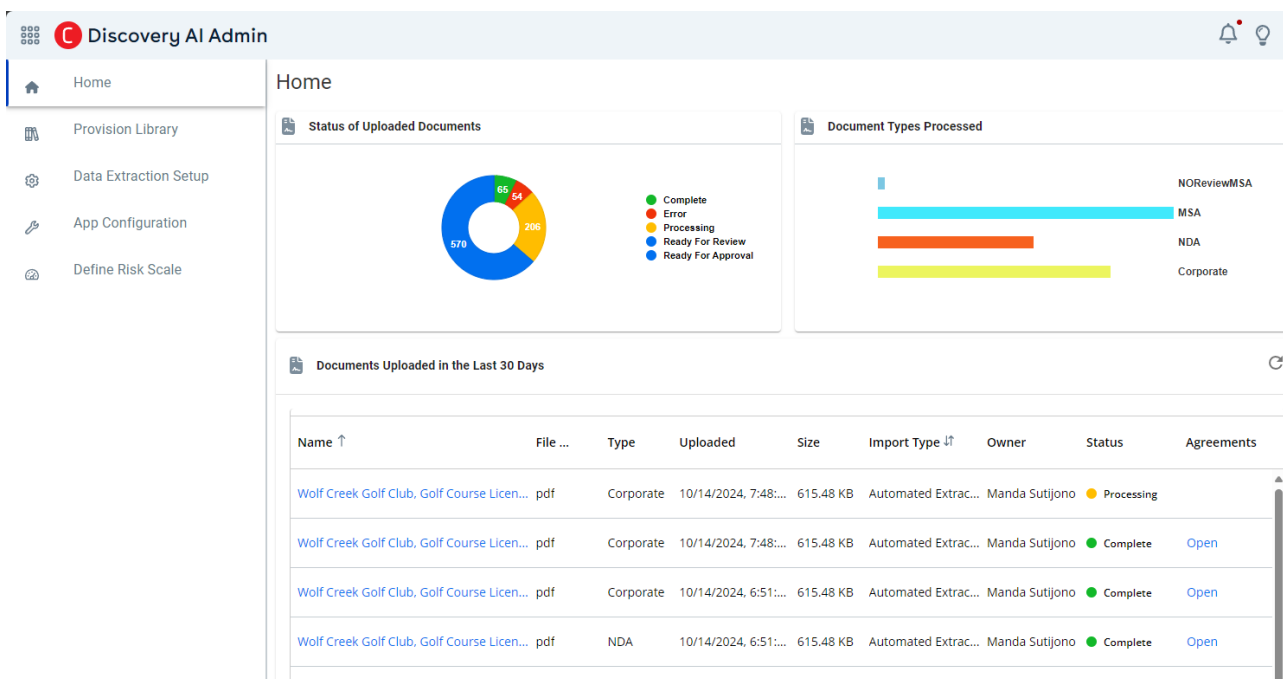

Behaviors and Limitations

- Sorting is not available.
- An import request can only process one folder, one file, or one group of files.
- While viewing Sharepoint content, if multiple items are selected across pages, you can process only the selections on the current page.

- If you select files then navigate into and out of folders to select more files, only the current selection (i.e., whatever the current folder contains) will process.
- Sharepoint displays all files regardless of type, so careful to select only the supported .doc, .docx, and .pdf file types.
- Search results only return files and not folders.

The Contract Intelligence Admin Home Page

The Discovery AI administrator accesses admin-only features through the Admin home page.

From here, you can review important operating parameters from the dashboard view, manage the Provision Library, set up data extraction, configure the application, and define the risk scale.

Before you can access the home page and dashboard, you must set up the application.

Dashboard

The dashboard provides several key performance indicators. Fields provided here for administrator review include:

- Total documents uploaded
- Status of uploaded documents

- Total documents processed
- Documents uploaded in the last 30 days

The sidebar contains links to:

- Admin Home (the dashboard)

Discovery AI is available for users of Conga CLM on the Revenue Lifecycle Platform.

Admin users are responsible for setting up Discovery AI, for defining and mapping document extractions, and for managing the tool's use. Users are responsible for importing and extracting documents, and, once documents are extracted, reviewing and approving the extractions.

Users access Discovery AI on the Revenue Lifecycle Platform from Conga CLM.

From its dashboard, Conga Discovery AI offers users controls to:

- Import and extract documents
- Review imported documents and train the AI

Accessing Discovery AI

To access Discovery AI from Conga CLM

Once you click the bidirectional (up/down) arrow, the rows are sorted in ascending or descending order by that column. You can reverse the order by clicking it again, or you can pick a different column.

For more detailed and specific search and filter operations, see Filtering and Searching Files.

Exporting Document Listings

When in the document view of the Project Dashboard, you can export a comma-separated value (CSV) or Excel format file of the documents in the open project.

To export a CSV listing of all documents, click the EXPORT CSV button to the top right of the screen. This downloads a CSV of the entire folder without consideration of any row selections.

To export a CSV or Excel file of one row up to a page of rows, select the check box next to the rows you will export, then select the output format (Export as CSV or Export as Excel) from the download icon (📄). This exports an extensive set of data and metadata for each selected document.

Filtering Files

You can search for files by simple name search or you can use the Advanced Search feature accessible from the Project Dashboard to search with great specificity.

Search Product Dashboard results by clicking the Filter icon and entering field and operator information to narrow your listed documents for review.

To filter files

1. Open the Product Dashboard.
2. Select a directory by clicking its name.
3. Click the filter icon (Advanced Search).

4. Click Add Criteria.
5. Select one of the field types that appears in the Field drop-down menu.

❌ Do not select the Document Name or Document Size field types. A known issue involving these selections produces an error that will stop this flow and require you to repeat it with another field.

6. Select a logical operator from the Operator drop-down menu
7. Enter or select a value in the Value field.

The screenshot shows the 'Advanced Search' dialog box with a close button (X) in the top right. It contains a table with three columns: 'Field', 'Operator', and 'Value'. The first row is numbered '1' and contains 'Is Flagged' in the Field column, 'Equals' in the Operator column, and a dropdown menu in the Value column. The dropdown menu is open, showing 'Yes' and 'No' options. Below the table is a blue '+ Add Criteria' button. At the bottom right are 'Cancel' and 'Apply' buttons.

8. Click Apply, or If you need greater search specificity, you click Add Criteria to add more criteria.
9. If you add multiple criteria, you can control the search expression using logical AND and OR operators between searches in the Filter Expression field.

The screenshot shows the 'Advanced Search' dialog box with three criteria rows. The first row is numbered '1' with Field 'Name', Operator 'Contains', and Value 'Acme'. The second row is numbered '2' with Field 'Type', Operator 'Equals', and Value 'MSA'. The third row is numbered '3' with Field 'Import Type', Operator 'Equals', and Value 'Automated Extract...'. Below the table are '+ Add Criteria' and 'Remove All' buttons. At the bottom is a 'Filter Expression' field containing the text '((1 AND 2) AND 3)'. At the bottom right are 'Cancel' and 'Apply' buttons.

Operands must be enclosed with spaces and parentheses. NOT, NOR, and NAND operations are not supported, but these logical cases can be addressed using Operator field logic.

Importing Documents and Files

To import single files and folders

1. From the Home screen or the Project Dashboard, click the Import Document button and select Single Document from the dropdown menu or click Intelligent Document Import from the Conga CLM user interface. This may be a dropdown menu item or a button on a tile. See your product's guide for details.

These actions raise the Import Document screen to the "Upload a file" step.

Caution

If you enter the import flow from an agreement page, note the document type (i.e., DOCX, PDF, etc.) before proceeding. This value is not persistent across all products and mismatching an existing document type with the selected search will result in an error.

2. Select Single file upload or Folder upload. You can also slide the Skip Existing Documents toggle on to prevent uploading duplicate files or off to permit it.

Skip Existing Documents  Duplicate files will not be imported when toggle is enabled

3. Upload a file or folder through the browser or drag and drop it from the desktop.

Note

You can upload single files of the DOC, DOCX, and PDF file types for direct import, or folders containing such files. Make sure the files are of the same document type (see step 4) before bulk uploading. When uploading from a local file system, you can upload a folder of up to 1,000 documents. When uploading from Conga CLM, you can see up to 1,000 documents, which you can upload in 100-document batches.

4. Select the document type from the list of available document types.

5. Choose the processing option. You can select:

- OCR to import the document as searchable text
- Automated Extraction to submit the document for AI-only extraction, or
- Verified Extraction to submit the document for AI extraction with attorney review.

i The administrator can restrict access to these options. If so, some may not be visible.

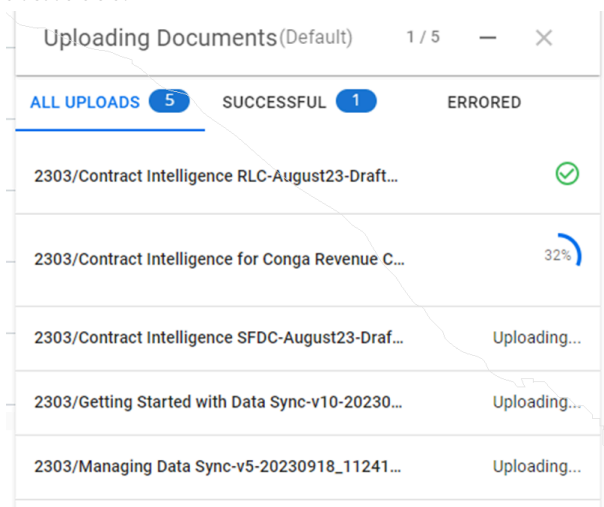

6. Review the advisory messages concerning your import carefully. OCR-only imports are quick and cheap, but no fields, clauses, or tables are extracted. Automated Extraction offers AI-only processing of documents, may cost more, but is fairly quick. Verified processing, on the other hand, is high-value and can take a considerable amount of time (possibly days) but provides very high accuracy.

Note

Verified Extraction is only available for a limited set of terms. If you receive an error after selecting Verified Extraction, try again using Automated Extraction.

7. Click the IMPORT button.
8. A message appears, confirming the submission and advising that you will receive email confirmation when document processing is complete and the document is ready for review.

On folder uploads, an Uploading Documents pop-up displays uploaded files, files remaining to upload, uploading files' progress, and those files' success and error statuses.

Note

You can detect and skip duplicate documents from a single or bulk import. During import, a duplicate file check is made within each folder and across all folders and sub-folders. An upload popup dialog shows when a duplicate file is discovered, by name.

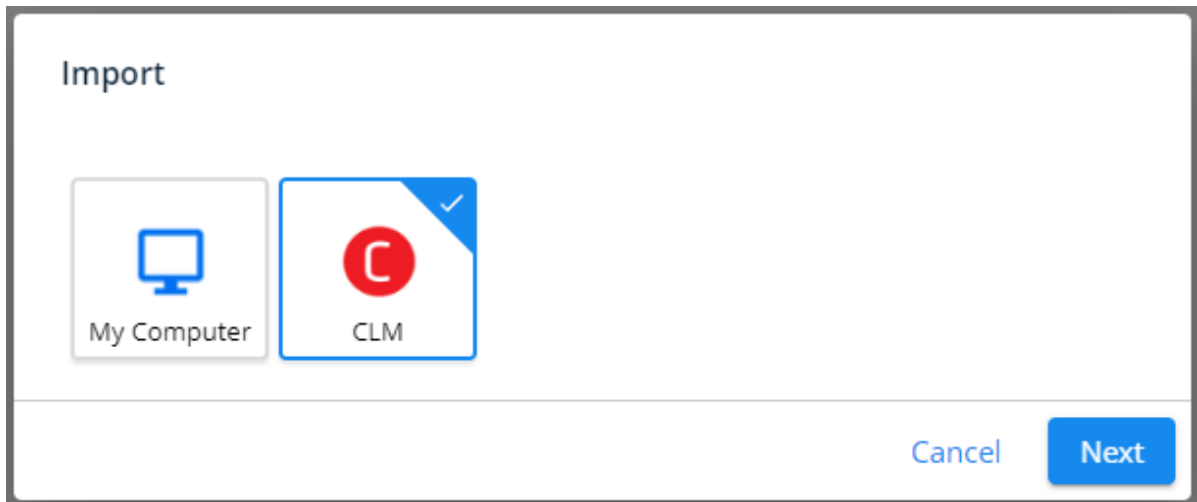

Users can import files and folders for extraction according to import rules established by the administrator.

To import from Conga CLM

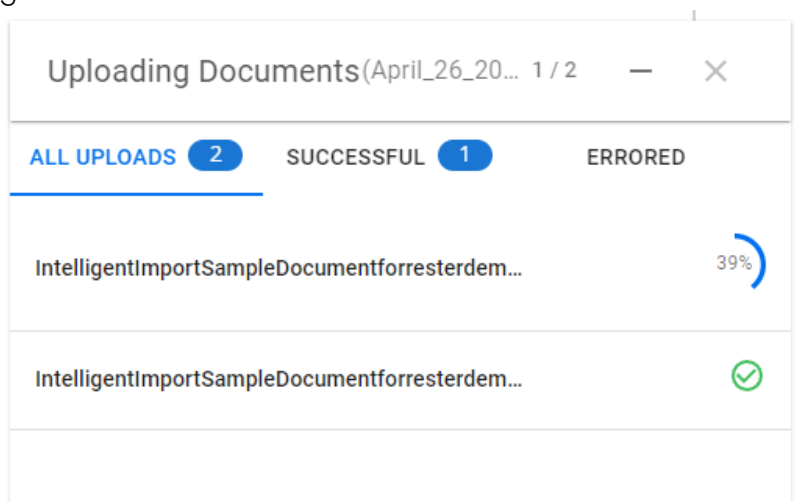

Prerequisite

You have performed the one-time setup and syncing of documents from Salesforce to the Conga Platform described in Managing Data Sync.

1.

2. In the Import Project window, you can select CLM document collections to import. You can filter these using filter criteria inscribed into several data types. You can also slide the Skip Existing Documents and Skip Older Versions toggles off to retain duplicate or legacy documents in your upload.
3. In the Document Selection section, click the check boxes adjacent to the documents you will import or check the top box to select all documents.
4. Select the worksheets and extraction types for each contract type you expect to import.
5. Click IMPORT. You may receive a notice that the process is in progress.
6. Document upload progress is reported in the Uploading Documents popup at bottom right.

You can click the tabs to find out the progress of all uploads (default), successful uploads, and uploads with errors.

7. Success is indicated when all uploads are marked with a green check mark. If you receive errors, you can resubmit as described in Error Reprocessing.

To import from Microsoft Sharepoint

Prerequisite

You have performed the one-time setup from Microsoft Sharepoint to the Conga Platform described in Microsoft Sharepoint Integration.

1. From the home page, click the folder icon in the left navbar to raise the Product Dashboard.
2. In the Project Dashboard, click the link text of a project name.
3. Click UPLOAD FILES.
4. Select Sharepoint from the Import popup and click Next.
5. In the Import Project window, you can select Microsoft Sharepoint document collections to import. You can filter these using filter criteria inscribed into several data types.
6. In the Document Selection section, click the check boxes adjacent to the documents you will import or check the top box to select all documents.
7. In the Choose Processing Options section, select the document type, worksheets, and extraction types for your selected document.
8. Click IMPORT. You may receive a notice that the process is in progress.
9. Document upload progress is reported in the Uploading Documents popup at bottom right. You can click the tabs to find out the progress of all uploads (default), successful uploads, and uploads with errors.
10. Success is indicated when all uploads are marked with a green check mark.

Behaviors and Limitations

- Sorting is currently not available
- An import request can only process one of the options below:
 - A single folder
 - A single file
 - A group of files
- While viewing Sharepoint content, if multiple items are selected across pages, only the selections on the current page will process
- If the user selects files, and then navigates in and out of folders and selects more files, only the current selection shown will process (for example, whatever the current folder contains)

- All files are displayed regardless of type, so ensure that only .doc, .docx, and .pdf files are selected. An error displays if unsupported file types are selected.
- Search results only return files and not folders

Error Reprocessing

During bulk imports, some files may have errors or may hang in the processing state for more than 24 hours. Rather than having these issues spoil the entire upload, you can reprocess a bulk upload during upload, OCR, or verification before the upload is ready for review.

To resubmit a bulk upload for error reprocessing

1. Go to the Product Dashboard.
2. Select the bulk import you will resubmit.
3. Click the Bulk Resubmit (🔄) button.

The screenshot shows the 'Project Dashboard' for a folder named 'TestImportBugv2'. It features a search bar and a filter icon. Below the search bar, it indicates '1 items selected' and provides icons for adding, deleting, and refreshing. A table lists the selected item with a 'Bulk Resubmit' button above it.

5. Bulk processing is reinitiated.

Reviewing Imported Documents

You can review and correct the clauses, fields, and table rows extracted from imported documents. Discovery AI converts all scanned or uploaded documents to PDF format for scanning and review. Provisions and other significant text are highlighted for review in an in-app PDF reader. For each detected clause you review, you can accept the extract, reject the extract, edit the extract, or flag the extract for review.

To review imported documents

Enter review mode:

- From the home screen, click the folder icon to access the Project Dashboard, then open a file marked "Ready For Review."

- From an open contract in Conga CLM click Review Intelligent Document Import (if available).
- If the administrator has configured it and if you are named as a reviewer, you can also check out batches of files by clicking the + GET NEXT BATCH button.

Passages from the extraction map that the AI has identified are highlighted in the text and identified by mapping category under the PROVISIONS FOUND heading in the review column to the right. For example, if a contract contains an amended effective date field, as has been mapped in the extraction map, that field is highlighted in the text and appears in the right column under its field-name heading.

ices, Card Personalization and Fulfillment Services, and Prepaid Engagement Services effective as of this 1st day of November, 2020 ("Amendment Effective Date") and amends and supplements the following Addenda: Prepaid Card Personalization and Fulfillment Services Addendum, and Prepaid Engagement Services Addendum, all of which are effective June 30, 2016 (collectively, the "Prepaid Engagement Services Agreement") attached thereto and effective June 30, 2016 (collectively, "General

In this mode, you can offer feedback on extraction quality directly to the AI (using the thumbs-up/thumbs-down icons), mark a field or clause as reviewed (approved), or flag the entry for further attention.

For clauses, you can also remove the checkmark from the left checkbox to withhold feedback on the extraction. This means the extraction result will not be used to train the AI.

The AI's confidence score is indicated on the left, using color-coded bars:

	01/10/2017
	01/10/2017
	$650,000.00
N/A	Adam Smith

Mandatory fields are indicated by "Required" indicators. Your review cannot be completed until these required values are populated, either automatically or through manual editing.

Provisions mapped for the document type that have not been found in the document are also called out in the review column below the found items, under the PROVISIONS MISSING heading.

You are offered the ability to edit the extraction. Use this with care.

When the AI reviews documents, it compares the ingested text to known samples to find matches and close correlates to sample provisions. You can review its performance, gain insight into how it is making such comparisons, and select the best of several alternative clauses using the Compare or Edit Clause feature. Clicking the down-arrow icon adjacent to an extracted clause exposes the standard clauses that the AI recognizes as close matches.

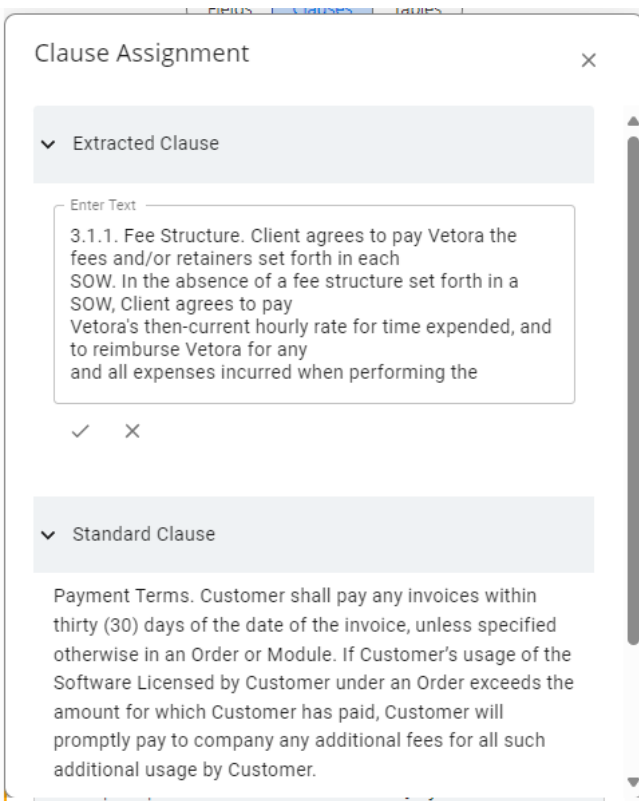

The screenshot shows a software interface with a header 'Governing Law - Victoria' and a sub-section 'Payment Terms'. Below this are two buttons: 'MARK AS REVIEWED' and 'FLAG IT'. A list of four extracted clauses follows, each with a checkbox, a thumbs-up/down icon, and a 'COMPARE OR EDIT CLAUSE' button. The first clause is checked and has a blue checkmark icon.

Clicking COMPARE OR EDIT CLAUSE exposes the Clause Assignment window, which contains four views of an extract: the extracted clause itself, the standard clause against which it was compared (this can include the language of custom provisions), and the similarities and differences between the extracted clause and the standard.

The Extracted and Standard fields are as described:

Beneath these, the AI describes the similarities and differences between the extracted and standard clauses:

Clicking the preview button shows the table's values in context.

Some tables may be configured to show hierarchical entries. For such an entry, the name for the hierarchy and its possible values are preconfigured based on the appearance of the contract. Indicators of a hierarchic entry include a span row naming the group and indented rows below it.

- Click the trash can to delete the entry (this does not alter the underlying agreement, just the metadata). This feature is disabled for required fields.

Reviewing the Summary

The agreement summary is located under the Review tab.

The summary field is extracted by the AI engine for all documents, including those ingested as OCR-only. A document under summary is indicated as a blank in the review interface with a spinner running. You can click the pencil icon to edit the generated summary.

 Caution

Document summary occurs when you open the document for review. Longer documents take longer to summarize.

For each found entry, you can:

The Details tab, adjacent to the Review tab in the document review interface, contains these fields:

- Review Level

- Assignee
- Comment

Some are filled in by the AI, while others are completed using manual pull-downs. The reviewer can identify the record type, designate an assignee, and comment on the document.

Editing Provisions

For each provision, you can edit or manually populate an entry.

To edit an extracted provision

1. Click the "down" arrow to open the entry.
2. Click the edit (pen) button to open the provision for editing.
3. Edit the provision (This edits the clause, field, or line item's metadata, not the contract text).

Note

The Administrator may have configured the provision to insert a default value if Discovery AI could not find the provision's text in the document. Such values are clearly indicated in the reviewer UI. You can edit these provisions like any other.

4. When you are done editing, click the Accept (check mark) button, confirming that it has been accurately extracted, marked, and categorized. To abort the edit, click the X.
5. Edit another entry or click MARK AS REVIEWED.

To assign and edit a provision that has not been extracted

If a provision has been defined as manual-only or if the AI has missed a passage, you can manually assign a provision to a passage in the contract by one of two methods:

Note

The Administrator may have configured the provision to insert a default value if Discovery AI could not find the provision's text in the document. Such values are clearly indicated in the reviewer UI. You can edit these provisions like any other.

Copy from the Contract

1. Click the "down" arrow to open the entry.
2. Click the edit (pen) button to open the provision for editing.
3. Locate the relevant clause, field, or line item in the contract.

Tip

Use the built-in search feature to locate contract terms quickly.

4. Either:
 - Copy the information from the contract to the provision field and format it as you will, or
 - Highlight the provision text, copy it and paste into the clause text box.
5. The provision text appears in the right column, ready for editing.
6. If it is necessary, edit the provision as described above.
7. When you are done editing, click the Accept (check mark) button, confirming that it has been accurately marked and categorized.
8. Edit another entry or click the Review Complete button.

Tip

If you click the check mark icon to accept a clause in error, you can un-check it (and all other acceptances from this session) by clicking the Cancel button.

Highlight in the Contract

1. Review the missing or manual-entry-only provisions in the PROVISIONS MISSING column to the right and locate a provision to fill.
2. Search and highlight the provision text in the contract.
3. Right-click the highlighted provision text and select the correct provision type from the drop-down menu.

4. The provision text populates the provision entry, which moves to the PROVISIONS FOUND column.
5. Edit or approve the selected provision by clicking the pen or checkmark icons.

Training Custom Provisions

When custom provisions are newly introduced, the AI must be trained to recognize and extract them as described in their definition. Training is a user responsibility.

Training the AI consists of giving the AI samples, identifying the relevant contract terms, and directing the AI to the work. In practice, this involves finding the provision in the document, highlighting it, and selecting the appropriate provision-in-training. This occurs in the same context and workflow as the regular document review for built-in provisions.

Once an administrator has defined a custom provision and made it available, you can upload and import documents using the custom provision. On importation for extraction, Discovery AI processes documents to extract the mapped provisions. For at least the first 30 contracts, and until the minimum accuracy threshold is met, users must review and highlight contract data that matches the custom provision.

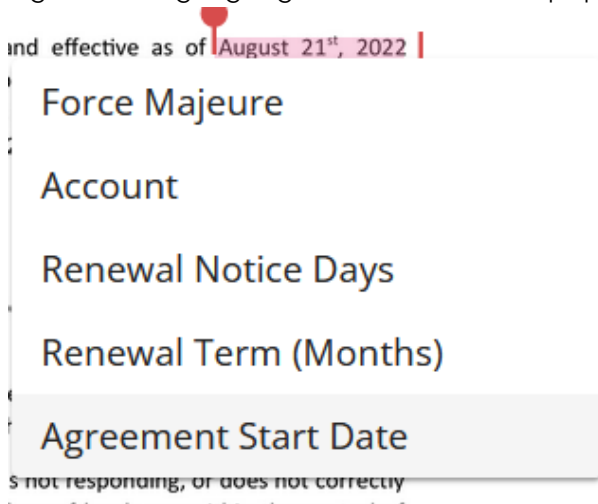

To train a provision

A new provision remains in training for its first 30 reviews, and until the AI's results exceed the Minimum Accuracy Threshold set by the administrator.

1. Select an imported document marked "Ready For Review" from the Project Dashboard.
2. Provisions that must be trained are visible in the list to the right under the PROVISIONS BEING TRAINED heading.

3. For each item in the training list, find and select the provision in the text.
4. Right-clicking highlighted text raises a pop-up that lists all provisions being trained.

Select the appropriate provision from this list to assign the provision text to the provision definition.

5. The highlighted text appears in the right column, under the selected training provision. Provisions in training are indicated by a green training icon ()
6. When all required provisions (fundamental, standard, premium, and custom) have been reviewed or trained, click REVIEW COMPLETE to send the sampled text to the AI for machine learning.

Examples of Provisions under Training

The following examples show provisions highlighted for training.

Assigning a License Date Field

The screenshot shows a document review interface with a PDF document open. The document text includes a section for 'License Date' and a 'Software Warranty' section. A dropdown menu is open over the 'License Date' field in the warranty section, showing options like 'FEE TYPE Fixed', 'Warranty Period', 'Indexation Metric', 'Indexation review point', 'Price Increase Percent', and 'License Date'. The 'License Date' option is selected. On the right, a sidebar lists 'PROVISIONS FOUND (3)', 'PROVISIONS BEING TRAINED (9)', and 'PROVISIONS MISSING (2)'. 8.20. Arbitration: Any controversy or claim arising out of or relating to this contract, or the breach thereof, shall be settled by arbitration administered by the American Arbitration Association in accordance with its Commercial Arbitration Rules and judgment on the award rendered by the arbitrator may be entered in any court having jurisdiction thereof. Claims shall be heard by a single arbitrator. The place of arbitration shall be Orange County, California. The arbitration shall be governed by the laws of the State of California. Hearings will take place pursuant to the standard procedures of the Commercial Arbitration Rules that contemplate in person hearings. The arbitrators will have no authority to award punitive or other damages not measured by the prevailing Party's actual damages under this section. Any award in an arbitration initiated under this clause shall be limited to monetary damages and shall include no injunction or direction to any Party other than the direction to pay a monetary amount. Each Party shall bear its own costs and expenses and an equal share of the arbitrators' and administrative fees of arbitration. Except as may be required by law, neither a Party nor an arbitrator may disclose the existence, content, or results of any arbitration hereunder without the prior written consent of both Parties. The Parties agree that failure or refusal of a Party to pay its required share of the deposits for arbitrator compensation or administrative charges shall constitute a waiver by that Party to present evidence or cross-examine witness. In such event, the other Party shall be required to present evidence and legal argument as the arbitrator may require for the making of an award. Such waiver shall not allow for a default judgment against the non-paying Party in the absence of evidence presented as provided for above.

Assigning a Picklist Value to a Provision under Training

Tip

For picklist custom provisions with string-type entries, it is a best practice to use the "text" data type instead of the "short-text" type.

Extracting from a Trained Custom Provision

A provision is trained when its F-score reaches the accuracy specified for the provision during its creation.

Once a custom provision is trained, it is available automatically for extraction on document import.

The screenshot shows the 'Review Documents' interface. The document content includes a paragraph about Stock Market and a section titled '2.6 Results'. The sidebar on the right shows 'PROVISIONS FOUND (7)' with categories like Data Protection-Privacy, Exclusivity, Non Complete, and Intellectual Property Rights. Two specific provisions are highlighted with red error icons and the message 'Does not match standard clause'. Below this, 'PROVISIONS BEING TRAINED (4)' are listed, including Pricing, Product Returns, and Payment Terms.

You can modify or accept the extracted text and complete the review as required:

The screenshot shows the 'Review Documents' interface with a document titled 'Tevora Business Solutions 1/2019 MSA'. The document content includes sections for 'business hours', 'B. Billing and Payment', and '5.9 - Management of products'. The sidebar on the right shows 'PROVISIONS FOUND (14)' with categories like Discounts, Minimum Purchase Amounts, and Most Favored Nation. A 'Payment Terms' provision is highlighted with a green checkmark and the message 'Enter Text'. Below this, 'PROVISIONS BEING TRAINED (0)' and 'PROVISIONS MISSING (0)' are listed.

Retraining a Trained Custom Provision

Trained custom provisions are set to re-train continuously by default. You can modify or delete extractions from custom provisions and re-annotate the text if the text extraction is inaccurate. Your modifications to a trained custom provision's extractions retrain the custom provision.

If there are no extractions by a trained custom provision, you can add a new annotation to a custom provision and send it to the AI for training when your review is complete.

Extracting Fields and Clauses after Custom Provision Training

Notice that the provisions are displayed under the Provisions Found section:

The screenshot displays a document review interface. The main document content includes sections for "Charges" and "Adjustment for Inflation". The "Charges" section states: "Fixed Fee. A fixed fee of Thirty Thousand Dollars ($30,000) shall be paid on a prorated share based on the amount of work completed upon each billing." The "Adjustment for Inflation" section states: "The Maintenance Reserves rates set forth in paragraphs 1, 2A and 3 above (inclusive of subsections and including the table appearing in Section 2A(ii)), shall be increased for inflation on 1 June of each calendar year." A copyright notice for Knoll, Inc. is also visible.

The sidebar on the right, titled "PROVISIONS FOUND (9)", lists the following extracted provisions:

- FIELD License Date: October 24th 2022
- FIELD FEE TYPE Fixed: Thirty Thousand Dollars
- FIELD Registration Number: 123463782
- FIELD Indication review point: In the event AWD calls... Fixed Fee. A fixed fee... on 1 June of each calendar year.

Below the "PROVISIONS FOUND" section, there is a section for "PROVISIONS BEING TRAINED (2)", which includes "Indication Metric".

To delete inaccurate extractions

1. Click the inaccurately extracted custom provisions on the right panel.
2. Click the Delete icon.

3. Confirm the deletion.

Note: Deleting a field deletes all extractions for that provision. You must annotate afresh and assign it to the custom provision.

4. On deletion, the provision listing returns to the PROVISIONS MISSING section.

Assessing Risk with Insights

You can use Discovery AI not only to read and extract documents, but also to analyze those documents for risk and to receive suggestions for mitigating such risks.

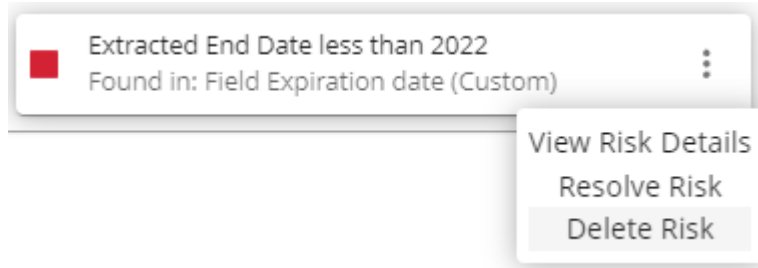

To review risks with Insights

As a reviewer, you can use the Insights feature to assess contracts for predefined risks. To do this:

1. Access the Review Documents interface from the home page as described in Reviewing Imported Documents.
2. Click the Risk AI tab at top right, exposing Insights' risk assessment.

⚠️ The AI performs the assessment for a document when you open the Insights (Risk AI) tab the first time for that document. For larger documents with more identified fields, this may take longer.

3. For each identified risk, you can click the More icon (⋮) to view risk details, resolve, or delete the risk:

Clicking View Risk Details exposes the particulars of the risk.

4. The AI reviews provisions based on predefined risk scores. It identifies overall risk and individual risk factors.

6. Your administrator may have configured Insights to use generative AI to review risks based on natural-language prompts and to generate its own natural-language outputs. If so, the Insights panel may offer less rigid, more colloquial prompts. These may change subtly over time.
